

PRIVACY POLICY

Origin Investigations Inc. (collectively "Origin," or "We," "Us," or "Our") believes that protecting the privacy of current, former, and prospective clients and their personal information is of the utmost importance, and we are fully committed to maintaining the privacy of such information in our possession.

We collect nonpublic personal information about current and prospective clients from the following sources: information we receive from current and prospective clients on retainer agreements and related documents (for example, name, address, social security number, date of birth); and information about client's transactions with Origin and its affiliates. Origin may use nonpublic personal information for its own internal purposes or on behalf of its affiliates as permitted by law or regulation.

In general, we restrict access of current, former, and prospective clients' nonpublic personal information to our personnel, our affiliates and their personnel, our service providers, our outside counsel, and our outside auditors who need to know that information in order to ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations or provide services to our clients.

We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural controls in keeping with Federal standards to safeguard the nonpublic personal information about current, former and prospective clients that is in our possession.

If, at any time in the future, it is necessary to disclose any of a client's personal information in a way that is inconsistent with this policy, we will give advance notice of the proposed change so that the client will have the opportunity to "opt out" of such disclosure.

This website may use "cookies," which may automatically collect certain information and data. "Cookies" are small pieces of data sent to your computer browser from our web server and stored on your computer's hard drive. The data identifies you as a unique user and facilitates your ongoing access to and use of this website. Cookies also help us diagnose problems with our server and the Site.

To give notice, or if you have any questions or comments about our privacy policy, please contact us.
